FIRE ESCAPE.

MILTON'S Improved Fire Escape was sperimented with at Woodward's Garns, San Francisco, Sunday afternoon, al the Alta gives the following descrip-account: This appliance differs from all other capes presented heretofore, and so far regards simplicity far escape from danr is far superior to any yet offered, se escape consists of two heavy tubular eees of brass, about fourteen inches ag and one inch in diameter, which are ated together by two small strips of milar metal about seven inches in length of this appliance are attached a number of wide strips, consisting of neck and body straps, which are so placed at they will admit of carrying one or or persons, and are also fixed in such a namer that females may descend with-tany inconvenience whatever. Through tubular pieces of brass, ropes are window or aperture of the apartment re the escape is to be mabe from. straps are then piaced around the is put in front of the chest. The using the escape grasp the upright s of brass, and by means of a brake, ch is in the same, governs the rate of all in descent. Two men are all that equired to work the apparatus, and he working of the apparatus yester-and demonstrated the practicability by descending from a hight of fifty t with two men seated in the straps ratus, metal, rope and gearing, will reach over fifteen pounds.
